

Regional Local Advisory Panels

Six Local Advisory Panels (LAPs) have been established to provide local community input into decisions regarding site selection for the new organisations. The panels and their meetings are a critical step in the consultation process as they will ensure that local communities have a say in how the Tasmania Tomorrow initiative will work at a local level.

The panels are being chaired by local government mayors and include representatives from a broad section of your education and training community including: colleges; TAFE Tasmania; school associations; Tasmanian Principals Association; Tasmanian State Schools Parents and Friends; Area Taskforces; industry; government; and the Logistics Working Group. Individual membership for each LAP is detailed below.

The first undertaking of the local advisory panels will be in relation to establishing campuses of the polytechnic, academy and training enterprise in each region.

To align with the consultation phase, the panels will meet at the end of October/early November to:

- share the facts, figures and forecasts from the Tasmania Tomorrow project team that are relevant to your community;
- confirm the parameters for decision-making;
- explore options for your region (developed by the Logistics Working Group); and
- identify the best option for the region, based on the data.
